

KIDANE DESTA G.

Ethiopia, Africa
+251-966-928-521
d.kidane2001@gmail.com

January 30, 2017

H.E. MR. PETER THOMSON
UN Headquarters
405 East 42nd Street
New York, NY, 10017

Dear Mr. President,

I respectfully write this letter to you, in the name of the forgotten billions of Africans and their land resources. This is an urgent call to the United Nations General Assembly to let all dam constructions and other destruction projects stop, and to declare that all the disputed Africa border areas and colonized island territories as Africa's territorial sovereignty.

A call to stop destruction projects, and protect citizens' land resource rights in Africa

Today's new strategy seems toward neo-feudalism and neo-medievalism, with a long term agenda for irreversible global domination in the name of 'climate change', 'environment', 'refugee', 'humanization', 'energy', under the greedy eyes' of colonizers ('the more they eat, the more they want want'). It is the mentality and behavior of greed, political power and control economy, we need to address the destructions it has caused and continues to cause.

Mr. President, we must not allow ourselves to be damped by floods and sinked in valley volcano depression. Poor as we are economically and big as we are in number, we must show ourselves and the world that we are ready to stand for our citizens rights and their land resources - honor as we are in voiceless voices power. While we are not fighting against our enemies for obvious reasons, we must use our moral stature to stop all dam constructions and other destruction projects in Africa. We must use whatever power we have in our hands to strive for the greatest society benefit of the poorest in present and for the greater number of longest time.

Does the world think that Africans has no world class mind experts and imaginers who can help them think through all possible ways? While we may not use military power, let the world not forget that the Africans have the moral and faith to make right things done. We shall initiate society awareness and legal actions. We shall take actions using real reasons and the power of our mind and faith as our weapons to stop the destruction projects. We have started the process and our journey will be most interesting. The world community to view the seriousness of Africans.

More than half of the Africa population live without secure citizen rights to what are often their greatest assets, their lands. Hundreds of millions of young people and farmers are unfairly driven from their homes, denied essential services, shelters and foods, displaced and excluded from their society. Giving citizens the power to manage their land resources would reduce poverty and promote sustainable development; their safety and property security, basic rights and economy stability.

But it's small thinking to fight over the pieces of rockies and volcanos, forests and parks, in the hope of finding ways for storage of water, for the future needs of the colonizers. So, before the actions we need to take, may I suggest that instead of fighting over the pieces of land being flooded and sinking on a high pressure of volcano depression, that make up the dams and lakes, our strategies be changed. It's big thinking to teach citizens and give the power to use and manage their own land resources. There is no limit to the benefits of the world community when the citizens understand their rights and meet basic needs, when they use their rights to secure their land resources.

Calling on UN GA to returning sovereignty island territories, and to resolving border disputes

Due to the consistent disrespect and colonization movements, destructive effects of feudalism, lordship, medievalism which took centuries on Africa land resources (lands, territories, islands, and other natural resources), we find ourselves on a polluted and disturbed planet; the river waters and streams, which were once pure enough for our forefathers to drink, are now poisoned. The suffering of human beings and the destructiveness to life on our land resources has been a direct consequence of militarization and war, domination and dehumanization. These conceptions and effects have become the mortar of the current world disorder.

Mr. President, calling on UN GA to return and resolve the decades, or even centuries-long Africa sovereignty island territories and feature dispute areas, which were stripped and controlled by colonizers in different times. We claim over all the Africa border directions and continental feature territories; this also include areas over the overlapping border regions. We have inherited honor and respect, patience and courage, humility and bravery, skill and knowledge, wisdom and understanding, love and moral values from our forefathers. These values would replace the love of greed wealth and political power. Africa's intention to restoring colonial dispute areas, to returning territorial islands, to closing the world's unjust ambitions on Africa's land resources must be done with an independent decision, without self-determination and without compromise obligations—putting aside economical and military differences.

It's small thinking to fight over disputed border territories and islands with the colonizers. It's big thinking to resolve them across the table in a peaceful way. For it is an opportunity, not for intense competition for more resources for the present, but for friendly relation and for the benefit of the future citizens as well. It will be a solid outcome. If only for that, Africans need to take major action. This action move to return colonized land resources and to benefit citizens is especially significant because the initiative is undertaken by the African people themselves.

Precisely because Africans' lands, island territories, are the most gifted, they have the credibility and the responsibility to return, protect and use for today and for all time. As appropriate, there will no competent state. But if there is, must come up with scientific evidences and reasonable arguments to the table. No State outside Africa States shall validly purport to these claims as a valid sovereignty. Standing in solidarity with the issues critical to our citizens survival, and at the same time, by recognizing the world's global crisis, we extend an open hand of humanity relations with everyone.

Africa needs to declare United Africa States and expand its territorial borders

Colonizers fight in the name of 'climate change', 'environment', in competition to protect and reserve resources for their future generations, while the billions of Africans are suffering with food security in the present. Africans need to take the moral high value, and thereby earn the respect of the world, and build better economy in the present which is more than environmentally aware of the future.

Africans initiate a move to declare United Africa States, and to administer all of their sovereignty territories, disputed borders and islands (from Eastern to Western, from Northern to Southern regions of the continent). As a matter of fact, history tells us that the South America States, the Pacific States, and the Middle East States were founded by the Africans long centuries ago; therefore these can even be administered by United Africa States for the adverse effects of the present and their future citizens. Thus Africa proposed the formation and establishment of United Africa States Administration, and sub-administrations (United Sister Africa States [South America], United Pacific States [Australia, New Zealand, PNG], and United Middle States [Saudi Arabia and its border states]).

Mr. President, to show that you are serious, you can let the destruction projects in Africa stop as soon as possible. After having done this, or simultaneously with the declaration of our claimed island territories and disputed border areas as Africa's sovereignty territories. Then you can certify bills to have the destructors and colonizers pass them effective. This will show the seriousness purpose of UN general assembly in the desire of land resources protection for the benefit of citizens and their moral values.

We wish to further the process of creating initiate guidances and restore an era of strong trade economy relations, as we build United Africa States. And we hereby declare, a great transformation, that Africa to be referred as 'United Africa States'

Sincerely yours,

Kidane Desta G. _____

[Kidane Desta G. is an activist in citizen rights and land resources, ant-corruption and anti-colonization. He is a scientist, researcher, designer, developer, innovator, entrepreneur, and inventor. Kidane is the founder and leader of the United Africa States Administration].